HOME NOTES AND SOCIAL GOSSIP

Announce Engagement

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Florence McHugh to Mr. Edwin H. Platt of Denver is of interest to a wide circle of people, because of the prominence of the bride, both as an educator and as a member of one of Omaha's well known families.

The announcement was made by Miss Josephine McHugh, sister of Miss Florence McHugh, to a number of intimate friends. The wedding will be celebrated the latter part of June.

Miss Florence McHugh, who is a teacher of English at the Omaha high school, was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1900. While at the University she distinguished herself by her special work in philosophy, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholarship fraternity.

Miss McHugh is a sister of Miss Kate McHugh, assistant principal of the Omaha High school and of Judge W. D. McHugh. Mr. Platt is a prominent mining engineer of Denver, Colo., where they will make their home. The many friends of Miss McHugh regret her departure from Omaha.

This will be the last social affair given by Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy in Omaha, as they leave the latter part of June for their summer home at Mackinac and in the autumn will go to Chicago to reside.

Miss Helen Cudahy, sister of Miss Jean Cudahy, will be maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Frances Nash, Miss Brownie Bess Baum, Miss Mary Donaldson of Minneapolis and Miss Josephine Cudahy of Milwaukee.

Many social events are being planned for the bridal party.

Unusual Honey Recipes

MADAM MAFRICE MAETERLINCK is very fond of honey and has evolved several recipes for cooking with honey.

The simplest of these is baked apples with honey. For this large apples are chosen and cored, the cavity is filled with honey and they are baked thus, a little butter being added on top of each.

Oatmeal Bread with Honey—To a cup of rolled oats add three cups of hot water, half a cup of honey, a tablespoonful of butter and some salt. When cooled to blood heat add a yeast cake dissolved. Stir in flour till a suitable dough for kneading has been made. Raise over night and make two loaves. Raise again and then before placing in the oven to bake, brush over the tops with one teaspoonful of honey and two of milk blended.

Honey Cheese Soufflé—Place two cups of milk in a saucepan and when heated mix into it two cups of finely grated cheese and two cups of bread crumbs, stirring constantly until smooth; then add the first beaten yolk of an egg, and last the stuffy whipped white, stirring it in quickly. Serve hot with honey.

Hot Rice with Honey—Wash a cupful of rice in many waters till all cloudiness is removed. Drain and plunge into a quart of boiling water, adding a teaspoonful of salt and a bit of lard the size of a filbert. Boil for twenty minutes. Remove and drain and mix with two heaping tablespoonfuls of butter. Four over as much honey as the taste requires.

Eggs Poached in Hot Honey—The honey is placed in a saucepan and is sufficient to cover the eggs well. When it is thoroughly hot the eggs are slipped into it, and as soon as they are set are removed. A very generous sprinkling of cheese is added as they are served.

French Chestnuts in Honey—This is a very delicate dish. The large chestnuts are shelled and placed in boiling water for five minutes, when the skin falls off easily. A pound of these blanched chestnuts is then placed in a saucepan, covered with creamy milk and simmers till the chestnuts are tender. They are then mashed with a spoon and sweetened with a quarter of a pound of honey and well mixed. The mass is then pressed through a sieve or put through a vermicelli masher.

It is then heated on a dish and surrounded by a mass of whipped cream.

afternoon was spent in children's games. Those present were:

Mesdames—Evelyn Johannes, Dorothy Hunsie, Ruth Buffington, Misses—James Adams, Herbert Fisher.

The Combs club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. B. F. Marti. The next meeting will be held in two weeks when Mrs. Harry Pilgrim will entertain at a matinee party. Those present Thursday were:

Mesdames—B. S. Emerson, E. J. Doll, D. C. Garratt, Dean, L. L. Hoover, W. F. Dimmick, W. E. Swisher.

For the Future

Complimentary to Miss Jean Cudahy, Miss Carolyn Barklow will entertain at luncheon next Thursday.

Two large dancing parties will be given this evening. The Omikron club will entertain at its annual May party at Chambers academy. Another large party planned for this evening will be the last of a series given at the Dundee hall by a number of Omaha High school students.

a telephone operator at the hotel and played by Helen Ware. The vital note of the play is that a real human husband is introduced, one who says to his wife, when he learns of her past, "It doesn't matter, I love you and shall go on loving you to the end." Much realism is introduced in the first act, the action of which takes place around the switchboard of the telephone exchange in a big hotel. Here many questions are asked of and answered by "central." Among the orders given is one from a guest who desires that The Omaha Bee be sent up to his room at once.

The seat sale for John Drew indicates that his short stay at the Brandeis will be taken advantage of by as many people as can get into the theater at both performances. He opens on Monday night. The seat sale for Mary Garden opens on Monday morning.

Bjornson's two-act play, "A Lesson in Marriage," has been translated into English by Grace Isabel Colborn. It is a satirical comedy, disfiguring the woes of a young husband, whose wife is the spoiled child of doting parents. The piece has been pronounced too didactic for stage presentation by reviewers of it in book form. It has, nevertheless, received stage representation, and that in Chicago. The audience relished it.

Siegfried Wagner says concerning the forthcoming autobiography of his father that it is to be given entirely in its original form, without omission or alteration. It is understood that the family has delayed publication until many of those mentioned in Richard Wagner's recollections have died. Hans Richter has denied the statement that he corrected the original proofs of the book.

A new development of great importance in the arrangement of Julius Hopp has entered into with Daniel Frohman, whereby under their joint management, performance of international dramas of literary quality will be given on Sunday evenings at the Lyceum theater for the purpose of enabling a more effective promotion of plays which do not appeal to the general public because of their intellectual qualities. The first performance will be given on Sunday evening, April 30, at the Lyceum theater. "The Clouds," a modern realistic drama from the Bohemian of Jaroslav Kvapil, translated by Charles Reicht and adapted for the stage by Charles Swickard, will be given. The cast will be announced later. Mr. Swickard, a translator of "Taps," "The Fires of St. John," etc., will
